Important! Test Correction Standards are as such:

- You MUST have completed the exam review to be allowed to do test corrections!
- To be completed on separate paper.
- You are to rework any problem you would like to earn points back on.
- Rewrite the original problem including all descriptions and instructions.
- Redo the problem correctly. Incorrect answers are worth zero points.
- Organize your work nicely so that I can easily find each problem. The numbers should be in sequence with ample space between. Just think: "Don't give Noah a headache," and you'll be fine.
- Attach the original exam so that I can see how many points you earned on the first attempt.
- Worth Up to 50% of the difference between your exam score and 100%.
- Due Wednesday, December 7th.
- You may receive help from any tutor/friend/instructor etc. who is willing to help you.

I HAVE READ and understand the test correction standards: _____
